Apologize

ONESHOT!

Who hates Drarry? I DO! So I made this different.

* * *

>Harry Potter, sitting in an armchair, was thinking about his time at Hogwarts.

First year? Creepy, and totally surprising. It isn't every day you are told you are a "wizard" who is invited to a school for other "witchcraft and wizarding".

Second year? Scary. Third year? Completely surprising. Fourth year? Deadly, he couldn't forget about Cedric, Harry stifled a sob. Fifth year? Strange, he was going to be expelled from Hogwarts, and that prophecy... _very vulnerable._

Harry couldn't think about the sixth year. Betrayal (which honestly was nothing), death of Dumbledore, and Draco being forced to kill him...

Wasn't that why Draco was crying in the bathroom?

Oh.

The seventh year... AGGHHH, Harry would rather dream about Voldemort than think about everything that happened.

The years went on, and he noticed more things- not to look for himself, but to see from other people's view, thanks Severus Snape. Harry decided to apologize to Malfoy for almost killing him.

* * *

>At the same exact time, Draco Malfoy was thinking about his years at Hogwarts.

During the first year he was a jerk.

He kept on being one.

In the fourth year, Harry, instead of being dead, in the first 5 minutes (as he half-hoped), made it to the end. In the fifth year, being favored by Dolores Umbridge was horrible.

By the beginning of the sixth year, he let his emotions overcome him. And Potter, POTTER went inside the bathroom and found him crying...

That was one of the worst things at Hogwarts.

Then his living room exploded...

* * *

>Harry was really regretting paying a visit to Malfoy. Especially THE Malfoy who he had...

STOP.

Harry came to the _new _Malfoy mansion, to apologize, not to think about the awkward things that had happened.

Then he spotted Malfoy's pale, gray, eyes staring back at his emerald green ones.

Crap...

* * *

>"So what were you saying? YOU NOW APOLOGIZE?" Draco yelled, looking pink in the face.

"I know that was like 10 years ago, but I just realized how much I hurt you...", Harry said, not realizing the double meaning. He had _physically and mentally _hurt Draco.

"Don't mention that bathroom scene or else you are going to suffer", Draco stuttered, pulling out his wand.

"Really, I just came here to apologize. And you are going to make a spell duel?" Harry grinned, slipping his wand out from his robes.

Draco sighed.

"Fine. Now go, and I never want to see you again in this place, ever", Draco muttered, handing Harry a bag of Floo Powder. He disappeared, and Draco sighed loudly.

"Draco? What's wrong?" Astoria asked, feeling his temperature.

"Potter came to visit."

End
file.
